

Parkinson's & Conversation

Do you have Parkinson's?
Do you find conversation can be difficult?

We are interested in talking to people who experience difficulties in conversation due to Parkinson's.

If you agreed, you would have an opportunity to talk about your experiences and what is important to you in conversation.

You would be interviewed by Helen Crouch, who is a speech pathologist. She could meet in person or online at a time that suits you.

If you would like to participate or find out more, please email:
